Awakening of Heroes is a mobile 5v5 MOBA game in development by COFA Games (Belgrade, Serbia). Besides classic MOBA (multiplayer online battle arena) gameplay, Awakening of Heroes brings cartoon-like everyday heroes and new game-changing strategy elements.

The developers identified an increasing need for a relaxing multiplayer combat game that can be played on the go. They are making Awakening of Heroes a game with the ability to engage, entertain and make players laugh.

So, what's the difference between Awakening of Heroes and similar games?

- A unique objective-based MOBA

Core MOBA gamers will find it interesting that Awakening of Heroes brings fundamental strategic innovations to the genre: Game objectives are attainable through defeating jungle guardians that protect tangible rewards, like reinforcements and weapons, not just gold or buffs. Players' favorite is taking a bomb from a guardian to do a bomb touchdown and destroy a tower. There is a black hole portal with entrances near both bases that is used to take enemies by surprise.

- The most dangerous heroes

The heroes are game's trademarks, fifteen everyday characters depicted in a loony style. But put them in the arena and equip them with equally comic, but lethal weapons and they become savage: An angry bingo champion granny who bakes a killer cake. A warm-hearted math professor turned butcher skilled in close combat. A grumpy old-timer in his own invention - a speeding wheelchair equipped with lots of guns.

- RPG elements and ranks climb

Unlocking and upgrading cards levels up heroes' armor, speed, and damage. As wacky as they sound - a soda can ring, a chicken breast armor and a bearded grandmother's hat are very useful in the arena. Players gather trophies to progress through 15 arenas to the world top league!

- A touch of battle royale

Besides flying into the arena with hang gliders, Awakening of Heroes brings another battle royale element - mystery boxes. Mystery boxes spawn around the map or when a hero drops them and contain random power-ups in the form of mousetraps, invisibility or a chicken bomber fleet, to mention but a few. They can be used against enemies strategically or just for kicks.

- MOBA evolved

By defeating enemies, players earn gold and then buy weaponized plants. Six species of plants are opening a whole new genus of tower defense tactical moves: A hero can leave a trap plant for his pursuer, use a catapult plant to launch exploding pumpkins at towers or position a taunt plant near a tower to tank for his team.

- Dynamic matches

Some of these features add to the fast pace of the game so matches are very dynamic, averaging at 10 minutes.

With its colorful graphics, 3-lane fairytale town map, cartoonish heroes and completely new strategic features, this objective-based 5v5 real-time multiplayer game stands out among other mobile MOBAs. Currently, the game is in open beta. When published, Awakening of Heroes is going to be free-to-play, but not pay-to-win, developers claim. If you would like to support Awakening of Heroes try the game's open beta and give your feedback to the developers.
